Street funding 'word' awaited in Livermore

LIVERMORE — "Still not a word," was the frustrated comment by City Manager Bill Parness when asked if he had received any official notification the city would receive a $1.5 million federal grant for proposed First Street realignment.

Congressman Pete Stark's office in late December sent a press release to all East Bay news media announcing nearly $8.5 million in federal public works projects for the East Bay, including the Livermore grant.

The $1,538,400 Livermore grant would come from the Public Works Employment Act of 1976, designed to alleviate unemployment. The Livermore project would require 386 people, the release noted.

With no official word, Parness has already asked city council permission to begin preliminary talks with engineers. No decision has been made whether to use services of the San Francisco office of DeLeuw and Cather, the firm which did the engineering for the railroad relocation project, or to use engineers from CALTRANS.

"I'm going to have to ask the council for approval to go ahead with preliminary engineering work," Parness told The Times. "I may even suggest we get contracts prepared and possibly execute the contracts."

"We can't afford to wait," he added. "Eventually this project will go ahead anyway and in the remote event it doesn't receive the federal grant the engineering work we do isn't perishable and would eventually be used."

Parness said he has made several attempts to contact Stark's office about the grant, which the press release said had "better than a 90 per cent chance" of going through.

SR girl eyes inaugural

SAN RAMON — That special charisma that President-elect Jimmy Carter exudes led to 11-year old Michelle Jarman writing him a "personal" letter, with the result that Michelle, her mom and possibly her father will travel to Washington, D.C. Jan. 18 to view the inauguration parade and swearing in ceremonies on the 20th.

A fifth grader at Country Club school, Michelle was inspired to make up her own "Go Demos" and "Vote for Carter" posters back in October.

True, they weren't viewed by too many potential voters, having been taped to the family refrigerator. But Michelle further demonstrated her support for the soon-to-be 39th President by writing him in October at his home in Plains, Ga.

She personally went down to the post office to get the zip code for Plains, Ga., further advising an inquisitive reporter that she didn't think she'd need an address as "he already was pretty famous" and "everybody there probably knows him."

Michelle got the idea from watching Carter campaign on television. In the letter she asked for an autograph but, as she explains, "I really didn't expect to get a real answer."

Back came a postcard from Carter's office — in mid-November — saying she "could be a great help to Jimmy Carter's campaign."

The inaugural invitation came at the beginning of the week.

With puckish humor, Michelle

Last minute filings

Many seek vote in March 8 races

School boards in the Valley may be in for unprecedented turnovers if the number of candidates, particularly in San Ramon and Livermore, is an indication.

Friday was the final date for filing for school board elections scheduled Tuesday, March 8. The only possible way someone interested in running could gain recognition now would be by notifying the Registrar of Voters Office in Oakland they wish to conduct a write-in campaign.

Both the Amador and Pleasanton school district have three board positions open. Murray will have two, and San Ramon three.

But the most wide open race, where the greatest number of "new faces" could be voted in, is shaping in Livermore where four positions are open.

A flurry of last-minute filings Friday found San Ramon with 12 candidates for three seats. Incumbents Virginia Jouris and Joseph DeHope had previously indicated they would not seek another term.

But current board president Harold F. Zuckerman was among the first to file.

Also signaling an intention to campaign for a seat governing one of the fastest growing districts in the Bay Area were Claudia A. Edwards, Thomas A. Jennings, Joan M. Scott, Hank Carstensen, Don Sledge, Pat Neil Althizer, Robert Schepman, Ronald D. Harris, Harline Kruger, Gregory L. McCoy, and Sue Cramer. The latter, of 2867 Winthrop Ave., and Althizer reside in San Ramon. All others are residents of Danville.

Livermore will have three positions for four-year terms and one three-year term.

Incumbents filing were James Davis, Manuel Prado and James McFarlane, as well as Jan Brice, Jack L. Thornton, Jr., and Richard Gower, all for the four-year term, and Gail Sidhu and Barbara Stear for the three-year term.

VALLEY NEWS BRIEFS

Quakes jar Contra Costa

A swarm of earthquakes bumped and jostled slumbering Contra Costans Friday night and Saturday morning. But no damage or injuries were reported.

A spokesman at the University of California seismic center in Berkeley said approximately 50 temblors ranging from zero to 4.6 on the Richter scale were recorded.

He placed the epicenter about six miles northeast of Berkeley in the direction of Concord, between the Hayward and Calaveras faults.

A similar swarm of quakes rolled through the San Ramon Valley last June, the largest one recording just over 4 on the Richter scale, the spokesman said.

Switchboards in police stations and sheriff's offices around the Bay Area lit up rapidly after the first jolt which was recorded shortly after 10:55 p.m.

The quakes started at 10:55 p.m. and lasted until 1:51 p.m. Quakes under 6 on the Richter scale seldom inflict any serious damage, the spokesman explained.

SR group opposes tract

The San Ramon Homeowners Association (SRHA) is planning to write a letter to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors protesting zoning approval of a proposed housing development to be built by Woodhill Development Co. of Danville.

SRHA members contend the zoning is not compatible with zoning allowances made in the revised county general plan. They hope this move will either stop or at least slow down the building of the development.

Mori on capital crimes

Governor Jerry Brown's announcement that he won't sign any capital punishment bill probably has killed any prospect of a capital punishment bill from the Legislature, assemblyman Floyd Mori told The Times Friday.

Mori said he personally favors capital punishment for such crimes as premeditated murder, with sentencing at the discretion of the judge. Well over a majority of the Legislature agrees on some kind of reinstatement of capital punishment in California, but Mori doubts that there would be the required two-thirds vote to override a capital punishment bill.

Human services to meet

The Human Services Commission of Pleasanton will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the City Council Chambers, 30 W. Angela St.

A chairperson will be elected and the staff will report on the Ralph M. Brown Act, human services in Alameda County, human services legislation, and a look at the needs assessment which will be undertaken by the commission.

BART strike detoured

Bay Area Rapid Transit District supervisory personnel have cancelled today's strike deadline, thus heading off a labor dispute that could have crippled the three-county agency.

A spokeswoman for the BART Supervisory and Professional Association said the deadline was called off Thursday night after lengthy negotiations.

Further talks are not scheduled, but are "anticipated," a BART administration spokesman said. Top BART management "has offered a revised proposal which is being studied," he said.

The dispute centers on a hefty pay hike for salaried, middle management employees who want premium pay for overtime. The 120 employees represented by BART SPA, mainly maintenance supervisors and train controllers, say their unionized subordinates make more money per year.

BART SPA members' salaries range between $23,000 and $31,000 per year. Association negotiators rejected a reported 2 to 3 per cent pay hike last Monday.

BART General Manager Frank Herringer said supervisory personnel are salaried employees and hence expected to work overtime occasionally.

Association representatives say the overtime amounts to more than 100 hours yearly for most of their members.

Residents oppose shopping hub plan

PLEASANTON — Residents on Longspur Way don't agree with Chris Berattis' redesign of his proposed Oak Tree Center, so they will appeal it to the city council tomorrow night.

The council voted down the center's design 4-1 a few months ago because the residents were not happy with it and instructed Berattis to meet with them to work out a satisfactory solution. They met, but there is no satisfactory solution, according to appellant Charlotte Witke of Longspur Way.

Nothing has changed substantially in the plan, said Witke. Berattis still wants to use part of the one acre at the end of his six-acre parcel as a parking lot for the shopping center proposed for the other five acres, said Witke. She and her neighbors would rather see an office go on the land. She's sure that was the council's intention when it zoned the one acre for public and institutional uses about a year ago.

An office building would help buffer the noise from the shopping center and its hours would be compatible with the homes beyond the fence, said Witke.

Berattis has drawn in an office on the parcel in his latest version of the plan, but that doesn't mean an office will materialize on the land, said Witke. Berattis supposedly told her and neighbors that it could be 10 years — or maybe never — before an office would go on parcel, she said. Meanwhile, the lot would assist parking overflow from the shopping center, she added. Berattis was unavailable for comment Friday about Witke's allegation which had been made in a letter to the city council and included in each council member's packet.

The issue is really "how does the council feel about buffer zones," said Witke. At least three council members last July said they wouldn't vote for an extension of Gary's Shell Station on First Street because they felt neighbors there deserved a buffer zone from the station, said Witke. People on Longspur Way would like the same consideration, she said.

The public and institutional zone, with its intended office someday, was supposed to serve as that buffer, she said. "It's time for the city to define a true buffer zone, once and for all, and tell us what a public and institutional zone is for," said Witke.

Witke thinks the location may not be a good one for a center anyway. Its location has necessitated a left turn lane on Hopyard Road between the canal bridge and Valley Avenue, something which the staff recommended against, but the planning commission approved anyway, said Witke. She thinks the center will just add traffic congestion near Hopyard Road and Valley Avenue.

miglietti, and Barbara Hartley, did not file.

Pleasanton looked until Thursday like it might come up short by one candidate. But several late filings produced a total of six candidates for the board positions currently held by Al Dutchover, board president, Dennis Reidy and Karen Finn. Mrs. Finn decided not to seek another term.

However, Dutchover and Reidy (who was appointed to complete the term of Dr. Guy Clark) filed as did James Griffen, Nancy Hawtrey, Ronald Ott, and Earnestine Schneider.

Murray will have two openings and five persons have filed. They are incumbent Linda Jeffery, Harry Molz, David Foster, Donald C. Biddle, and Linda Cooley. Norbert Hudak, who took out papers, did not file.

In the Amador district, incumbents Wayne Barnes and Jack Delaney will vie for three positions along with Frank Damerval and Eugene Hinton. Elvin Leisick picked up papers but did not file.

There'll be no opposition in Sunol Glen unless someone mounts a write-in campaign.

Incumbents Jimmy Ackerman and David Hoxie both filed early for the two position open.

Self hypnosis lectures set

LIVERMORE — Ira Magee's hypnosis is like a crow bar, manipulating the mind.

The San Francisco based therapeutic hypnotist shows people how to use self hypnosis to create enough will power to stop drinking, smoking, abusing drugs, overeating and a dozen other bad habits.

A graduate of the Institute of Applied Hypnology and a lifetime member of the Hypnological Research Association, Magee is in town for a series of "educational shows" at the Holiday Inn.

His appearances will be 8 p.m. Monday and Wednesday.

Magee, 50, was in his mid twenties, operating photographic night club concessions in Washington, D.C., when he learned self-hypnosis to combat what he calls "an old age back."

He was unlucky enough to have arthritic spurs, degenerated discs and osteo-arthritis — with the news that an operation wouldn't help. Magee turned to the mind and he's been turning others on to the methods since.

He continuously tells himself that his stomach is "warm, full and content," so anytime he wants to avoid overeating he tells himself his stomach is in the same state and needs no food.

"It's excellent for insomnia," he told The Times, then cautions, "Don't use the word 'sleep' to an insomniac; that will only stir up recollections of tossing and turning."

He doesn't view himself as a healer, just a teacher who "directs people's minds."

The "medical fraternity" looks on his practice with suspicion, says Magee, since "few medical doctors use hypnosis."

"Psychologists and psychiatrists don't like it either because their patients don't need them long enough — and that hurts business," said the hypnotist.

He recalled being arrested in his native Florida for "practicing therapeutic hypnosis without being a doctor," and implied the medical profession asks the government for the same protections it gives companies like Lockheed.

He was acquitted in a jury trial which found half the jury responding to his smooth voice as he explained mass hypnosis techniques.

"The prosecution objected to a record of my voice being played, but the judge allowed it and soon found himself nodding his head in response also."

He's not against medical science, but calls his court experience, "my little blow for freedom and liberty to help people avoid the backbreaking fees of the medical professionals."

"People have a perfect right to learn and use self-hypnosis to break their bad habits," Magee said.

The hypnotist calls his show "education through entertainment," and includes audience participation, in mass hypnosis, demonstrations, questions and answers.

For the more inquisitive, he will offer special classes next weekend to help people with specific problems.

Holding a chain with a ball on bottom and concentric-circled disc at top, the hypnotist smoothly suggests to a reporter, "You want to come to the lecture; you want to ..."

County again studies gravel truck routing

ALAMEDA COUNTY BUREAU — Gravel truck routes through the Valley and the reclamation of some 3,000 acres of quarry land will surface again next week before county supervisors.

Newly installed valley representative Valerie Raymond says she will ask the county's public works and planning departments and its legal counsel for new reports that address those questions.

She says she wants fresh reports from the three agencies on the board's sway over the forthcoming reclamation plan, currently being prepared by the Valley's "big four" miners. She also wants an update on the controversial El Chorro Road interchange and other possibilities for diverting traffic from Pleasanton and Livermore.

Kaiser, Lone Star, Rhodes and Jamieson and Cal Rock soon will present their reclamation plan to county planning commissioners.

The controversy over federal, state and local funding that built a public interchange dead-end into a private roadway off I-580 has brought on sometimes bitter feelings between local officials and the gravel giants.

Inside was a card with the invitation, one of thousands sent out across the nation, asking Michelle to be present Jan. 20 for the parade and swearing in ceremonies. On the inside was an explanation that said, in effect, "we're sorry you couldn't attend the Inaugural Ball but that calls for a special ticket."

Michelle was figuring on writing Carter another letter when the invitation came.

Since her noteworthy invitation and souvenir, Michelle has been in-

She and her mother, Mrs. John H. Brengle of 2843 Winthrop Ave., and possibly her father, will fly to Washington on the 18th and visit throughout the Capital before returning.

SRV trustees view growth needs

DANVILLE — The San Ramon Valley Unified School District board will act on a recommendation to hold a lease purchase election this May at a meeting slated Monday.

Trustees convene at 7:30 p.m. at the District Educational Center, 699 Old Orchard Dr.

Purpose of the lease purchase method would be to acquire portables for placing on district sites. A citizens committee has recommended a portable "starter" school in the Montevideo area by next September to serve a burgeoning K-6 population.

Trustees will review a school facilities report that includes citizen committee input and recommendations for courses of action.

Trustees will be asked to authorize the sale of two district school sites, the 9-acre Sycamore Road parcel and the 10-acre Tibros property in Danville Station.

In their report to trustees late last year, the citizens panel of James Graham, Preston Hunter, Susanna Schlendorf and Mickey Townsend recommended a new school to house elementary students from developments in and about the Montevideo area.

The panel said placing of portables on the site would be necessary in order to open the school in September. The proposed school could ultimately provide housing for approximately 450 students in grades K-6.

The same facilities plan report also recommended a new elementary school to house additional growth in the Montevideo area and to be opened in September of 1978. This would also be a portable starter school and tentatively located on the district's Winston Valley site.

The district would hope to place buildings on the sites through a successful lease purchase election in May and funds derived from sale of the Sycamore and Tibros properties.

Also to be worked out is a rebuilding plan for Neil Armstrong School in San Ramon. Guttied by an arson fire in late October, a couple of kindergarten and sixth grade classes have since returned to an undamaged portion of the school. But the great bulk of students are still attending Walt Disney School on double session.

All told, trustees face a lengthy and eventful agenda.

VMH shares cost data with others

LIVERMORE — Valley Memorial Hospital has been recognized by the American Hospital Association as an active participant in a program to more effectively monitor cost management.

The program, known as Hospital Administrative Services (HAS), involves the sharing of cost data submitted by nearly 3,000 health care institutions as a means for these facilities to compare their own cost control effectiveness with others of similar size.

"We have found the data information supplied by the program to be an excellent management tool in evaluating our cost containment efforts," said Lois Gurney, VMH controller.

Valley Memorial has been taking part in the AHA - sponsored program since last year.

lifestyle

Romantic setting for the traditional union of two hearts is at the San Ramon National Golf Club (right). Ultra-feminine is the byword for today's bride (below) who wears lacey, soft and flowing gowns such as this beauty created by Queen Fit, available at Anderson's House of Brides.

Merchants cater to traditional tastes at forum

"Give yourself plenty of time!" is the unanimous advice of businesses that cater to brides. The feeling of security that comes with shopping early will make that wedding day one to remember because of its beautiful serenity—not because you're faced with an empty church after mailing the invitations too late.

Planning a wedding isn't easy, but there are many experts available who are happy to help make it easier on everyone involved, from the bride to the ring bearer. Prospective in-laws often add to the pre-marital blues by demanding to know how and where, not to mention how much the event will cost.

The majority of the bridal experts who will be on hand at the bridal fashion forum Wednesday at the San Ramon Golf Club (7p.m.) are also in agreement that the traditional white wedding is still in vogue, as evidenced by the way free invitations to the Forum are quickly disappearing.

At the Forum, guests will be reminded that bridal gowns should be ordered eight to 10 weeks ahead of time, leaving ample opportunity for alterations. Saturdays and the summer months are especially crowded with the marrying fever, so country clubs and photographers recommend making the necessary reservations four to six months early. While printed invitations don't take long to make, stationers advise having them made at least six weeks before the wedding, leaving plenty of time for them to get through the mail.

Brides will be relieved to know that Anderson's House of Brides (344 Division, Pleasanton) has a gown for every girl's budget. A layaway plan also helps the working girl pay for her own dress. About 100 samples of the latest in wedding wear will be featured by Anderson's in a 90 minute fashion show at the Forum.

While a florist at Flowers 'n Things (2843 Hopyard Road, Pleasanton) says no one particular flower dominates the wedding season, a definite trend has seen many brides carrying Bible bouquets like their mothers before them. Ordering the floral arrangements three weeks ahead of time is wise, he adds, but six weeks should be given if the wedding is near a holiday or in June.

The San Ramon Country Club (9430 Fircrest Ln.) will host the wedding extravaganza and is an old hand at planning special dinners and receptions. For over 25 years the Club has helped organize about 100 weddings a year and "every one is different," says manager Lou Mancini.

If you are worried about which aunt should pour tea and who should stand where in the reception line, H & W Stationers (7233 Regional St. in Dublin; 1430 Railroad Ave. in Livermore) will be glad to advise you. Not only will they display etiquette books at the Forum, but they will also have samples of invitations, guest books and favors.

What about the bridesmaids and best men? Special momentos for them will be displayed by Glanville's Fine Jewelry and Gifts (Valley at Santa Rita Rd., Pleasanton).

Soon to be married couples won't want to miss The Gingham Corner's display (Main at Neal in Pleasanton), where they can fill out a list for such diverse items as china and bath accessories to leave with the store for gift buying friends and relatives.

Valley military news

LIVERMORE — Two Livermore men recently visited Hong Kong aboard the USS Enterprise while deployed in the Western Pacific with the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

Navy Chief Aviation Fire Control Technician Gerald J. Gustus, whose wife Mary is the daughter of Violet Hintz of Livermore, and Navy Engineman Fireman Apprentice Gary A. Gayle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Gayle of 1257 Tulip Way, are both aboard the Enterprise, homeported in Alameda.

The missions of the Seventh Fleet are to protect U.S. citizens, shipping and interests in the Western Pacific; to deter aggression against our Western Pacific allies, by maintaining mobile striking forces; to promote peace and stability in the Western Pacific; and to create goodwill for the United States.

The Enterprise recently participated in Exercise "Kangaroo II" in the Tasman and Coral Seas and along the eastern Australian coast. It centered on a major amphibious landing and a subsequent link-up of the assault units with Australian and New Zealand ground forces for combined land operations.

Gustus joined the Navy in January, 1958. Gayle is a 1975 graduate of Livermore High School who joined the Navy in September, 1975.

PLEASANTON — Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice Kevin W. Golden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick W. Golden of 5492 Greenfield, has completed recruit training at the Coast Guard Training Center in Alameda.

Included in his studies were first aid, seamanship, Coast Guard history and regulations, close order drill and damage control.

A 1974 graduate of Amador High School, he joined the Coast Guard in August, 1976.

LIVERMORE — Navy Ensign Ronald L. Olsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell V. Olsen and whose wife Michele is the daughter of Madilyn Renteria of Iroquois Avenue, has been commissioned in his present rank upon graduation from Officer Candidate School (OCS).

OCS, located at the Naval Education and Training Center, Newport, R.I., is designed to prepare students to assume the duties and responsibilities of commissioned officers.

A 1972 graduate of Granada High School, and a 1976 graduate of Cal State Sacramento, he joined the Navy in April, 1976.

LIVERMORE — Navy Seaman Apprentice Terrence D. Plunkett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Plunkett of 5543 Oakmont Circle, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego.

A 1976 graduate of Livermore High School, he joined the Navy in September, 1976.

LIVERMORE — Kimberly M. Overen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Overen of Livermore, recently left for six weeks of Air Force basic training.

She is heading for a medical career in the Air Force and also hopes to complete her college education.

Overen is a June, 1976 graduate of Granada High School.

LIVERMORE — Marine Private Patrick B. Kraft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Kraft of 9025 Mines Road, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego.

A 1976 graduate of Livermore High School, he joined the Marines in July, 1976.

LIVERMORE — Navy Fireman Sanford A. Stab, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney V. Stab of 559 Meadowlark Street, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego.

Split supervisors' vote nixes added septic tanks

OAKLAND — County supervisors have nixed a proposal that would have allowed more septic tanks in the Valley but provided "equity" for small land owners caught in a zoning crunch.

On a tight, 3-2 vote, the board refused to modify its ordinance and permit separate homes on adjacent, 10-acre lots. Board chairman Charles Santana and supervisor Joseph Bort voted for the change, with Valley representative Valerie Raymond, Fred Cooper and John George opposed.

Through policy changes over the past few years, the board has sought to limit building sites on adjacent lots held by the same owner. The inequity arose, Bort said, because one owner's 10-acre lots might be contiguous and hence limited to one building, while another's identical parcels might be separated by a small strip and hence eligible for two buildings.

"More than five, but less than 50" owners are caught in the quirk, said Cooper, admitting the inequity, but saying county issued variances would cover those caught in the middle.

Raymond's request for a survey to cover the potential effects of the change was killed when zoning administrator Dick Flynn told the board it would be "time consuming and costly" and would require considerable work with a computer.

Flynn told the board he has received only two formal requests for variances, "but there have been lots of calls where the people just hung up when we told them the problem." His office has no accurate count of the number of lots or owners affected.

He said a new code would not open the door to a proliferation of septic tanks, but that "it may be safe to leave the ordinance as is." A new law, he argued, would give his office some legal footing when explaining the twisted problem to the public.

Raymond, George and Cooper all feared an increase in septic tanks that might taint the Valley's underground water supply.

Contra Costa seeking animal control aides

MARTINEZ — Animal lovers are needed by the Contra Costa County Animal Control Volunteer Committee to work a four-hour shift once a week starting in February.

Reva Fox, coordinator of the volunteers, announced that all persons interested in becoming a volunteer should attend one of two orientation sessions on Wednesday, Jan. 12.

The first session will be held at 10 a.m.; the next, at 7:30 p.m. to accommodate persons with working schedules. Both sessions will be given at the Contra Costa County Horsemen's Association building, 3119 Grant St., Concord, Ca.

The meetings will outline what will be expected of volunteers. All those who decide to sign up will then attend two more sessions on following Wednesdays, Jan. 19 and 26 at the same times and place.

"Bring a friend. We need all the help we can get," Fox said.

Anyone who is interested in the program but cannot attend the orientation meeting should call Diane Neideffer at 686-4419.

Parks unit name change suggested

HAYWARD — Bill Schilp, may be "the only man in California to pray for dry weather," county zoning administrator Dick Flynn told him this week.

Schilp has been battling Flynn for the past few months to get a conditional use permit for his 25-dog kennel in the rolling hills above Foothill Boulevard. He's met all the requirements but one: a percolation test, the rate at which the ground absorbs water.

That, he said, can't be done until four days after the rains stop.

Flynn told him, "I'll give you two weeks. Unless there is satisfactory and demonstrable progress" on the work, "I'll deny the permit. But you've got the weather on your side."

Exchange Club talk

Energy shortage warning issued

During the next hour Americans will consume $8 million in energy.

And every hour of the day, 365 days a year that "bill" will be repeated.

How will America continue to satisfy this insatiable demand for gas, oil ... power?

Lynn E. McCoskey, San Francisco Bay District sales manager for Mobil Oil Corporation, believes the United States will have to more and more rely on middle east sources.

"About 40 per cent of our oil supplies are imported," McCoskey said in addressing the Amador - Livermore Valley Exchange Club Thursday noon.

"More and more comes from the mid-east and it carries a high price tag, not only in our own national security but in hard cash." McCoskey added later the U.S. is importing 88 million barrels a year and that number will almost double in the next few years.

"The demand for energy has risen again as the economy has improved. We have a high standard of living. Americans are driving big cars again and seem to be ignoring the 55 mph. speed limit. Yet domestic oil production keeps dropping. Reserves are being used faster than they can be maintained. The older (oil) fields are being exhausted."

McCoskey opined that the Valdez - Prudhoe Bay Alaskan pipeline, tapping the northern slopes, would not stem the great dependency on mid-east oil.

"America has the poorest conservation program of any major industrialized nation," McCoskey declared.

But McCoskey saved much of his ammunition for federal price controls and Congressional attempts to breakup the oil cartels horizontally or vertically.

"Domestic crude oil is still under price control. It has been the only commodity under such control since 1971," McCoskey commented in placing "fault" with Congress.

"How would you react if Congress called for the breakup of your company? ... It happened to oil companies last summer."

"Horizontal or vertical divestiture makes no sense at all. It only results in costing the consumer more," McCoskey contended.

"Washington must develop a meaningful conservation program, new methods of research ... It must provide leadership."

McCoskey listed seven suggestions for lessening the country's dependency on foreign oil and cutting prices to the consumer:

- 1) Encourage off-shore petroleum resources. "The first sale of Atlantic resources has been made and this is a favorable sign," said McCoskey.
- 2) Further encourage exploration of new energy sources through free-market prices.
- 3) Create a legislative "climate" for the oil companies to get on with their task.

4) Promote conservation policies apropos to environmental growth.

5) Develop timetables for further utilization of synthetic power sources.

6) Security stock - piling of resources.

7) Develop a U.S. Flag Fleet, a vast and modernized merchant marine service, to carry oil and gas products.

On related subjects, McCoskey had the following to say:

SOLAR ENERGY— Full utilization is still far down the road. We probably won't see solar energy plants before the turn of the century, if even then.

REMOVAL OF PRICE CONTROLS— It won't have as much affect as some consumers think. It could eventually affect the cost of unleaded gasoline. It has cost more to manufacture unleaded gas. If price controls were removed, it might lower the price per gallon two or three cents.

ALASKAN OIL TO GULF, EAST COAST— We're going to be importing oil from OPEC countries for many years to come...they've considered carrying oil on super tankers through the Panama Canal, but they'd have to widen the Canal. McCoskey estimated earlier that, of the 40 per cent of oil imported, about 60 per cent of that figure comes from OPEC countries.

DIVERTING OIL— There is no plan for trading off Alaskan crude for far east crude— thus diverting barrels tapped from the Alaskan pipeline to Japan.

EMBARGOS— Another embargo involving the middle east would be totally disastrous to this country.

Pleasanton councilman marks traffic hazard

PLEASANTON — Since the left turn lane from Sunol Boulevard to Sycamore Road was installed more than a month ago, an accompanying piece of traffic furniture seems to be posing hazard, according to Council Member Ken Mercer.

Part of the signing for the left turn lane and related improvements includes a pole in the middle of Sunol Boulevard. It isn't very visible at night, though, despite the city's efforts in putting a few reflectors on it.

Mercer, who drives to and from work in the dark these days, would feel much safer if the city would put reflectorized paint on the sign.

Pleasanton expands its commercial zone

PLEASANTON — The city picked up 70 acres of service commercial zoning in one city council action Monday night.

The council unanimously approved rezoning a 37 acre parcel owned by Frank Auf der Mauer from agricultural to service commercial zoning and an adjacent Auf der Mauer parcel of 33 acres from a study district to srvice commercial zoning. Both parcels are located south of Stanley Boulevard.

Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire, who usually shows concern about the effect of service commercial on nearby neighborhoods, said she is assured that the zoning won't have a detrimental effect on any properties in the area.

The area has been shown for years on the general plan for service commercial zoning. Eventually the Valley Avenue extension will cross Stanley Boulevard and come into the Auf der Mauer property, and another road also will cut into the property. Auf der Mauer said he is aware of plans for both.

Downtown biz

Ever since the first "shopping center" came to this Valley, sometime in the 1950's, there have been those who see such competition as "the end of the old downtown area."

Downtown Livermore — always a magnet for Valley shoppers — has had to adjust to stiff competition within that city and as far away as Dublin over the years, but Downtown Livermore never looked healthier, never showed more promise.

Pleasanton's core has relied on "charming old shops" and home-town products to attract buyers from distant points to this century-old hub. Again, with each new store built outside that core area over the last 15 years, someone sees "the end of Main Street commerce."

That was the thrust of a recent front page story carried by The Independent in reporting on the sale by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Young of several of their downtown Pleasanton properties. The news story saw doom and gloom for Main Street in that sale. Ray

Young, with his usual candor, has written to set straight the reasons behind his sale. His letter appears elsewhere on this page; we quote in part here.

Picking up the newspaper's mention of "the threat" of Stoneridge Regional Center on I - 680 and I - 580 as downtown's nemesis, Young says that such a regional hub "will have no serious effect" on the downtown hub and "may be advantageous ... because if it attracts large numbers to the Valley, some of them will find their way to Downtown Pleasanton."

Mr. and Mrs. Young are typical of those Valley investors who have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to buy and then renovate older properties, despite the new shopping centers then evident. They sell that improved property to other investors, who express that same confidence.

Healthy retail commerce, anywhere in the Valley, is good for all of the Valley. We wish news reporters and curbside critics could understand that.

Super home team

They say upwards of 150 million fans throughout the world will be watching, listening or waiting anxiously for today's Super Bowl action.

But to a few folks in the Valleys of Amador and San Ramon, the big contest in Pasadena is little more than another tough test for the nice guy next door, another traumatic week for the that great little family down the street.

More than any other spot in the country, the vale from Pleasanton to San Ramon can claim to be "home town for the Raiders." And even with a few moves in and out over the years, we can still count eight members of that organization who — when the Super battle is done with — will come back to families and friends here to celebrate that victory, or lick their wounds.

So forgive us, sports world, if

San Ramon today sends a very personal "go get 'em neighbor!" to Ken Stabler, to Phil Villapiano and to Ted Hendricks, and to scout Bob Mischak;

And you'll pardon Pleasanton's provincialism in saying a prayer today for Coach John Madden, for toughies Art Shell and Gene Upshaw, and for coach Don Shinnick.

We will remember also Fred Biletnikoff, recently of P - Town, and we will add our cheer and a personal tear to that of Ben Davidson, the grand old Raider alumnus who is still first in the hearts of Pleasantonites.

Give it your super best, you guys; but win or lose, come back home as good neighbors, happy husbands and proud pops ... the gridiron of life, facing tight end taxes, blitzing Bermuda grass and the inevitable backyard penalty for clipping. On any given Sunday.

Chamber time

It's January 14 at Castlewood for the Pleasanton bunch, with "Community Development Awards" the highlight of that evening.

Dublin has its traditional January luncheon set for Jan. 19 at the Dublin Corral, plus a snappy program reviewing the year past, the busy calendar ahead.

It's back to Castlewood on Jan. 28 for the Livermore Chamber of Commerce and a lively social gathering to include dinner and dancing.

Whatever your choice, wherever your loyalty, the annual "installation programs" of the local chamber have long since become something much more than the formal rites of interest to a few. A community's commerce, and the tax revenues generated thereby, are critical considerations in any society, inside or outside a city's boundaries.

Check your own chamber's annual gathering (San Ramon Valley already held their big affair in December) and make plans for a great home - town social, with some long - range dollars and cents rewards.

The Week In Retrospect

Close a school?

The conversion of Frederiksen School in Dublin to a seventh - eighth grade facility continues to draw heated division of opinion.

What has not been addressed fully, however, is the possible need to close a Murray School District facility. This matter is now under study in the form of a school consolidation report.

It is obvious the two matters, conversion of a school and possible closing of one because of declining enrollment, are part and parcel of the same overall problem.

Whether Murray trustees are moving down the proper path in converting Frederiksen when they might be opting for the status quo and looking at closing a school is reason for serious and immediate consideration.

The answer revolves around two known facts: Enrollment continues to decline at Murray schools on the Dublin side of Highway 580 while Donlon (on the Pleasanton side) bulges with K-8 students, admittedly in facilities that cry out for upgrading.

This would seem to indicate that conversion is necessary if only to reassign Donlon area seventh and eighth graders to a north-of-580 school ... thus providing a little more elbow room for K-6 students.

Such action, which is called for in both conversion plans for Frederiksen, would increase enrollments at one or more Dublin area schools.

But would the increases be sufficient to forestall consideration of closing a school? I don't think so.

Given the projections of Allan Richards, a demographer hired by the district last summer, and Murray's Wally Moreskine, there seems to be no other alternative but to consider closing a school by July of 1979. This would most appropriately be part of the school consolidation study now underway.

The district cannot afford to get into the implementation of Frederiksen as a seventh - eighth grade school without completing the study of which (if any) school might be closed.

The district must also resolve within the next few months what to do with the Dolan site in Silvergate, the Foremost property off of Dublin Boulevard and the swim center next to Dublin School on Vornac Road.

As stated in these columns before, the district should eye additional liaisons with the Amador and Pleasanton school districts aside from the one pending for food services.

Complicating this is the fact the district will be without a superintendent for several months and a business manager for at least another month.

The administrative load on the school board, Acting Superintendent Heinz Gewing, Acting Assistant Superintendent Wally Moreskine, Curriculum Director Les Schmidt and Anna Stutler in the business office will be tremendous in the weeks and months to come.

And in that regard, I would hope the school board gives full consideration to personnel now in the district when it comes time to select a new superintendent and assistant.

Gewing would be a good candidate for the top job, though he has already said he doesn't plan to apply. He has good rapport with the public and teachers, as well as the media. And that is of critical importance in this day and age.

School finances

While the governor and some legislators are delaying decisions regarding school financing on the excuse they must await the Supreme Court's final ruling on the now famous Serrano Case, the ultimate answer is clearly apparent to anyone who wants to apply ordinary common sense to the problem.

The case hinges on the contention that every child is entitled to educational opportunities of equal quality regardless of where it resides. Quality, judging from the initial court rulings, is to be measured by the dollars spent. So far no one has indicated that how they are spent is a consideration.

Some have advanced a "Robin Hood" theory that funds should be taken from districts rich in property taxes and given to the poorer ones. Such poppycock has a certain appeal to some politicians who believe robbing the rich to give to the poor is a sure vote getter, because there are far more poor than otherwise. But the illusion is disappearing fast as more and more become poor. If no other reason, taxation is seeing to that.

The right answer is a complete disassociation of school financing from property taxes. The relationship between the two was irrevocably shattered when California moved from a rural agrarian state to an industrialized urban one.

Educational financing is, in the final analysis, the sole responsibility of the state. That is recognized in all post secondary education excepting the community colleges. The question there is why should they be different?

It is also recognized in the fact the state finances close to half the present costs of the elementary and secondary programs. Which leaves the question of why not 100 per cent? Undoubtedly, the court rulings will move it closer to that, like it or not.

Aside from the costs to the state in such a solution, the main opposition stems from two sources. One is the notion of "local control" of the public schools. As more and more federal and state funds have poured into the coffers of the local districts, that control is more a figment of the imagination than a reality. For those with the purse strings have placed so many regulations, restrictions and mandates upon the schools local control isn't much more than naming the superintendent and setting the salaries.

That, of course, is the real reason for opposition to 100 per cent state funding. For if the state were to assume total responsibility for school financing, what is as sure to follow as night comes after day is the establishment of statewide standards for salaries and staffing in the same manner as the state now does for the state colleges. And certainly, if "quality" of education is to be measured in terms of dollars spent, equality of salaries and staffing must be a major factor in that measurement.

School districts which pay their administrators far more than the State Superintendent of Instruction, and some even more than the governor, are bound to battle such a solution. So, too, are those who have overloaded their payrolls with administrators, consultants, and other types of boondogglers who do everything except teach the kids.

But 100 per cent financing accompanied by uniform standards for salaries and staffing would satisfy the courts, whatever their rulings may be. Otherwise, as long as the state only partially finances the schools and permits the locals to raise money elsewhere there will always be inequalities in the programs.

How will the state get the money? Why the same way they would get it by indirectly 100 per cent financing the schools through property tax relief programs which propose rebates to local government without any control over the spending.

LIGHTER TIMES

The Erratic Edition is alive and well and ready for another banner year at Fallon School in Dublin.

When last noted, some nine months ago, the newspaper was operating with a "rookie" staff of journalists and a sponsor bubbling over with enthusiasm.

But those rookie fifth grade reporters and editors now have a year's experience under their belts and, frankly, we're expecting big things from them.

Mary Jane Hyde knows the kids will come through — but she could sure use another typist or two to type the basket-full of stories and features turned in. The "EE" is actually one issue deep into its second year, the first action-packed edition having hit the streets in November.

Back again to "crack the whip" over his pre-teen staff is Jim Hendricks, a youngster with a definite future in the reporting and editing dodge.

Young Jim is assisted by Lisa Johnson, assistant editor, Karen Kohlbeck, puzzles and activities (obviously the backbone and most followed section of the paper), and reporters Kathy Hall, Lori De Young, Una Lucey, Steve Kohlbeck, Lori McAdoo, Bruce Greek, Margaret Henderson, Jamie Bannert, Greg Karels, Marie Castelluccio, and Michele Biltz.

Among the features of the 76-77 premiere edition is an editorial ("The editor speaks") by Hendricks, a Wee Pals cartoon by professional cartoonist Morrie Turner, a horoscope, "Dear Gabby" (The EE's answer to Dear Abbe), word of James E. Carter's election to the Presidency, and a "recipe of the month" — quick popcorn balls.

round the town

Is America ready for the "Stay - tached top"? Several giants of American industry are biting their corporate nail this week, waiting for that decision.

Reynolds Aluminum spent millions developing the Stay - tached top. They'll spend another mill or two trying to convince consumers across the land and around the western world that this latest technological triumph is safe, sound and "understandable even to a small child."

But how about a big, stubborn adult? There's the problem.

Why did the nation's leading manufacturer of aluminum cans undertake such a dangerous mission into the never - never world of flip tops?

"The American people demanded it," explained the nervous young man being sent forth by Reynolds to spread this word of urgency to the nation's press. "The old pull - tab disposable top was becoming a menace, a leader in litter." After years of careful research, rejection and recycling, Reynolds came up with the answer. They hope.

"The Stay - tached top will appear on all five and one - half billion aluminum beverage cans manufactured by Reynolds in 1977," the eager young man explained.

Five and a half BILLION?

"Yes," anxious young man explained, reluctantly, "Reynolds has about ten percent of the total market in aluminum cans." With fifty five billion cans and an equal amount of flip - tops falling upon the nation this year, I figured the subject was indeed worthy of editorial response.

"The Stay - tached top is very easy to understand," explained anxious young man, who then proceeded to give me a 15 - minute demonstration, complete with Coca Cola cans that he kept opening and stacking upon my desk. It was making quite a mess, and I don't even drink the stuff.

"It's so simple any child could operate it," anxious young man said, flipping yet another Stay - tached. The trouble, however, is not with America's children, who can open the First Federal vault if there is something sweet or cool inside.

The problem is the American adult. Dull, reluctant to learn and resentful of any change from "the good old days," American adult is apt to flip his/her collective lid when Stay - tached hits the market.

"You simply have to lift the tab here," anxious young man is explaining, midst the mess on my desk, "pull it forward like this ... open the can ... then press the tab back down to its original position."

It looked as simple to me as the first TV remote control unit, or getting at those slices of ham so securely tucked into a plastic package of inhuman strength.

"Whether you want to pour it out," anxious young man was saying whilst tilting the full can alarmingly toward this anxious reporter, "or whether you want to drink directly from the can" ... a sip followed by a slop onto his chin, down onto my desk ... "the Stay - tached top works perfectly," he explained.

Coca Cola Company has a stake in all this. They are packaging most of their product in the new Reynolds Stay - tached cans. If consumers cannot open the blessed things, Coke's future fortunes will be locked inside! A nation, yeah the entire civilized world plus Yugoslavia deprived forever of this libation's refreshment.

Coca Cola is spending a few million bucks on its own to advise consumers of the new easy - to - open can. Their campaign stresses a healthier environment, and a happier Ralph Nadar. There is no mention of possible law suits from some idiot who gets his tongue stuck in the Stay - tached opening ... or loses a finger along with the well - known consumer temper when the blessed top stays attached well beyond the appointed moment of exposure.

Coke is coming out with several new sizes of its canned beverage in order to help promote the new Stay - tached look. One container is mercifully small; the other looks sickeningly large. Both contain the same brownish gluck.

"Why don't you leave a few more samples here for their use?" anxious young man's assistant suggests, anxiously. They both start stacking aluminum cans all over my desk. All Stay - tached.

I want to explain that I never drink Coke. That I believe the stuff inside is a far greater threat to the American environment than the can outside ... but they are already headed out the door ... the anxious young men from Reynolds Aluminum ... spreading their message of Stay - tached joy across the land ... the heralds of fifty five billion thirst quenches.

And hoping to God they haven't come up with an aluminum Edsel.

Property owner's view of -

Downtown's future

(The following letter was submitted by F. Raymond Young, well known for his redevelopment of downtown Pleasanton properties, who writes in response to a recent report on Young's sale of those properties and that was carried in The Independent. The Times carries Mr. Young's response here because of its importance to the entire business sector.)

To whom it may concern:
Several days ago an article appeared in one of the Valley's throw away papers discussing the reasons why Mr. & Mrs. Ray Young sold several Main Street properties. All of the data contained therein was published without our knowledge and without contacting us, consequently much of it was erroneous. It is our considered opinion that one's financial business is private property but when published reports may have some serious effect on others then perhaps we should tell you our business.

We sold the buildings for several reasons as follows:

1. We wanted the money instead of cement, stone and brick.
2. We do not think now, nor have we thought in the past, that the possible development ... of the Stoneson Shopping Center will have any serious effect on the Pleasanton central business district. In fact it may be advantageous to the central business district, if it is ever built, because it attracts large numbers to the valley certainly many of them will find there way to downtown Pleasanton ...
3. It is our considered opinion that it is always easier and more desirable for a tenant to deal one on one with the owners such as is the case of business in the central business area but not so in shopping centers.

4. We have several other reasons for disposing of much of our property ... We are older now and must do some serious estate planning for each others benefit and for the benefit of our children and grand children. These are private problems.

5. We had a lot of fun buying some old buildings and rehabilitating them so that they really looked like something. The actual rehabilitating was more fun, in the long run than leasing the buildings.

6. We do intend to spend some of our money and take a few trips now that we do not have the burden and responsibility of business property.

7. We do have two properties left, our home at 2 Castlewood Dr. and our little factory building at 443 St. John Street. Before anyone takes the time to check further into our business at the county building I can tell you that neither piece of property is encumbered with a mortgage.

8. As a part of the whole transaction our building on the corner of Main and Neal Streets was transferred to our daughters who operate The Gingham Corner and who now own a choice piece of real estate in downtown Pleasanton.

The buildings were sold to two gentlemen — Hal Gregorson and Murray MacFarland. Gregorson is a local resident.

Super Bowl XIA Big Game for Gowdy Too

Curt Gowdy will be in the announcer's booth for his sixth Super Bowl broadcast Sunday at 12:30 p.m. on Channels 3 and 4. For him, the game is as much pressure as it is for the players.

NEW YORK (AP) — Super Bowl Sunday is upon us and Curt Gowdy, for one, is ready to tip.

"This is the biggest game of the year and I get charged up about it just like the players," said Gowdy, who will be calling the play-by-play at kickoff time at 12:30 p.m. Sunday on Channels 3 and 4.

"I'm gonna have a big audience. But the thing we don't want to do is go in there and overpower the game."

"There is a tendency these days to get too complicated. NBC has an electronic army in Pasadena. A game like this has more complications and more replays, but my concern is not to overdo it, to make sure we don't overwhelm the game."

"But if I went in there just like it was any other game, it would be time to get out of this business. Doing a Super Bowl is a real thrill."

Raiders go for broke

By Charlie Zeno

LOS ANGELES — Two teams who have been there before will be reaching for pro football's brass ring again Sunday when the Minnesota Vikings and Oakland Raiders collide in Super Bowl XI.

The kickoff will be at 12:30 p.m. at the Pasadena Rose Bowl where a record-breaking 100,000-plus spectators will be on hand for the National Football League spectacle.

This is Minnesota's fourth time around for the Super Bowl while the Raiders are back after a losing effort in Super Bowl II, held in 1967 in Miami.

The Raiders are favored by four points and if the odds hold up the Vikings will be 0-4 in the NFL classic.

To get here, Minnesota posted a regular season record of 11-2-1, then beat Washington, 35-20, and Los Angeles, 24-13, in the National Football Conference title game.

Oakland chopped up 13-1-0 in the regular season, squeezed by New England, 24-21, and topped the Pittsburgh Steelers, the defending NFL champions, 24-7, in the American Football Conference showdown.

As expected, the game will spotlight the number of interesting match-ups, including one featuring veteran quarterbacks Fran Tarkenton and Kenny Stabler.

Tarkenton, now finishing his 16th season in the NFL, is the most successful passer in league history. His record shows that he has thrown 3,186 passes for 306 touchdowns and 41,801 yards — all high marks in NFL books.

In addition, "Scrambling Fran," as he was known early in his career, has rushed for more yardage than any quarterback in NFL history, 3,669 yards.

Stabler, a seven-year veteran from Alabama, enjoyed one of his greatest years in 1976, completing 194 out of 291 passes, 66 per cent, for 2,737 yards and 27 touchdowns, tops for the NFL this season.

Despite their impressive credentials, both Tarkenton and Stabler are the most part have taken a back seat to Baltimore's sensational Bert Jones in All-Star and Most Valuable Players polls.

The Vikings lay claim to one of the finest receiving corps in the NFL, in Ahmad Rashad, Sammy White, "Rookie of the Year," and the multi-talented Chuck Foreman, the team's "big play man." Not to be overlooked is tight end Stu Voight, a seven-year pro who came up with 28 catches this season.

They will be going up against another outstanding set of receivers wearing the Silver and Black colors, veteran Fred Biletnikoff, Cliff Branch, and Dave Casper, the top NFL tight end in pass receptions with 53 for 691 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Biletnikoff, one of four Raiders who were around for the last one at Miami, had 43 receptions, marking the he has logged in 40 or more. Branch was the leading team scorer with 72 points.

The Raiders admittedly have no runner in superstar Foreman's class, but will be relying on Mark van Egan, who rushed for over 1,000 yards, and swift Clarence Davis, who was a factor in Oakland's running game during two playoff victories.

They will be running up against Minnesota's fabled "Purple People Eaters," a formidable front four that shares 47 years of pro football experience. Right end Jim Marshall, who has started every Viking game in its 17-year history, is the group's elderly statesman. Next to him at tackle is Alan Page, a 10-year vet who in 1971 became the first defensive player to be named MVP in the National Football League.

On the left side are end Carl Eller, in his 13th year and tackle Doug Sutherland, the junior member of the quartet now in his seventh year.

The Raiders line-up on defense with a 3-4 and "Orange defense" installed by necessity following early season injuries, but now a potent force in the team's stop department. Otis Sistrunk and John Matuszak are the ends, flanking nose guard Dave Rowe in the front three.

Behind them are linebackers Ted Hendricks, Willie Hall, Monte Johnson and Phil Villapiano. Minnesota's mobile and aggressive linebacker corps features Jeff Sieman, former Stanford All-American; Matt Blair and Wally Hilgenberg, a 13-year veteran.

The Vikings finished first in pass defense in the NFL this season with Paul Krause, Jeff Wright, Bobby Bryant and Nate Wright playing key roles. Krause is the leading active interceptor in the NFL with 76 to his credit.

In the deep spots for Oakland on defense are cornerbacks Skip Thomas and Willie Brown, with George Atkinson and Jack Tatum at safeties.

Minnesota place-kicker Fred Cox, who led the Vikes in scoring with 89 points, is third in NFL history with 1313 points in his 14-year pro career. Punter Neal Clabo averaged 46 yards in the playoff games and specializes in "coffin-corner" kicks.

Doing the honors for Oakland are Errol Mann, a mid-season acquisition after he was released by Detroit and Green Bay, and Ray Guy, an old pro punter out of Mississippi.

Both teams take pride in their specialty units that have played important roles in recent victories. The Vikings turned two blocked punts into game winning scores against Los Angeles in the NFC crucial while the Raider coverage on kicks has been superb all season.

Oakland's up front offense includes Art Shell and John Vella at tackles, George Buehler and Gene Upshaw, guards, and Dave Dalby, center.

Paula's drive towards the top

By Gary Brown

SAN MATEO — Paula Ng seems ready to prove she is one of the finest girl sprinter-long jumpers in California this season.

Ng, who was troubled by a injured leg late last spring and thus missed the state meet, qualified in both the long jump and 60-yard dash yesterday at College of San Mateo here in trials for the San Francisco Examiner Games January 21 at the Cow Palace. Ng, a student at Livermore High School, placed third in the long jump trials with a 17-9 leap. She came back to nap third in the 60-yard dash trial finals with a 7.0 clocking. She won her first heat in 7.2.

Freida Cobb of Berkeley won the 60 in 6.9.

The top six athletes in each event made the Examiner Game finals at the Barn.

"I'm fairly satisfied with my performance," Paula said after the 60 was run. "I think I can reach 18 feet in the finals if I continue to work at my technique. The same goes in the 60 also."

Ng has been working out since the East Bay Athletic League girls' volleyball season ended last month so she is still rounding into top shape.

The only other valley athlete to qualify for the finals was Diana Stohr, the former Granada High School runner who placed third in the 880 at the state meet last spring.

Diana finished sixth in her 800-meter heat but still qualified with a 2:15 clocking.

"I've been working out but I guess not hard enough," the Cal-State Hayward student said after her heat was over. She didn't know that she had qualified as another heat was yet to be run.

Cheri Williams of Livermore High won the second heat in 2:25 so Diana qualified. Cheri finished strongly to win her race but the lack of a quick pace hurt her chances for qualifying.

The boys' high school action continued in the afternoon with Castlemont, Balboa of San Francisco and Pittsburg all fielding fine teams.

Mat rally topples Pokes

By Brian Martin

Sitting in Granada High's over-packed partisan gym, John Jones must have felt awful lonely.

The Livermore High basketball coach watched three of his top players foul out of the game early against Granada High, and with them went a hard-earned 12-point Livermore lead.

Slicing a 42-30 second-half Cowboy advantage down to 42-41 in the time it takes to brush your teeth, Granada went on to post a 54-49 win over the Cowboys Friday night to remain undefeated in two East Bay Athletic League starts. The luckless Pokes dropped their second consecutive nail-bitter.

With 19 seconds remaining in the third quarter, Granada's Dan Lambert triggered the comeback with a driving lay-in that drew a foul from Livermore's Mark McCreary, his fifth of the game. Lambert, who made the field goal, swished the free throw to make it 42-33.

After a Livermore turnover, Vance Rushing grabbed an offensive rebound for Granada and banked the ball in at the buzzer, cutting the lead down to 42-35.

Although the Pokes held a still spacy seven-point lead at that point, the writing was on the wall. Johnny Farfan, Livermore's sparkplug guard, had also fouled out earlier in the fourth quarter, while starters Tim Jenkins, Brian Schweiger and Dick Patterson all had four fouls.

The Mats took advantage of the extremely vulnerable Livermore situation by rattling off six straight points, including two steals, in the first 27 seconds of the final period. Rushing started with a jumper, Wujek followed with a steal and slam dunk, while Lambert — who started the onslaught just seconds earlier — capped it with another steal and subsequent lay-in. 11 points for the Matadors in 46 seconds.

"I've never had three guys foul out of the game before," said Jones. "They scored 11 points in a row there, and that was the ball game," Jones added, whose cries of "time out" during the Granada burst went unnoticed by the Livermore players because of the deafening Granada crowd.

Actually, it wasn't the whole ball game. Livermore, despite playing with a 60% bench lineup, stayed ahead until Vance Rushing converted a three-point play with 5:24 to play to give the Mats a 46-44 lead they never gave up. That, strangely enough, was the last basket of the game for the Mats, who instead chose to score via the free throw line.

The Pokes committed 31 fouls to Granada's 17, with Schweiger fouling out with 4:10 to play.

Kim Curtis iced the win with three pressure free throws in the last 36 seconds for Granada.

Livermore's Jenkins was the main aggressor during the first three periods that Livermore owned, popping in 15 to 20 foot jumpers with cunning accuracy. Jenkins led all scorers with 18 points while Wujek, who didn't score at all in the first and third periods, bucketed 17 points.

Dublin breezes

San Ramon High School's soccer team continued its scoreless streak Friday afternoon as Dublin High School took a 7-0 victory over the visitors in an East Bay Athletic League match.

The win gives Dublin a 4-3 mark while the young and inexperienced Wolves are 0-7.

Dublin outshot the Wolves 45-5. Kevin Dick and Paul Mangini each scored the first two goals 18 minutes into the first half and the Gaels were on their way.

The score could have been even worse if it had not been for the goalkeeping of Wolf Eric Austad.

who had seven saves against an overpowering offense.

Each team had two corner kicks. Dublin's junior varsity also swept to an easy win, taking a 6-0 decision. Dave Brownell of Dublin scored twice for the hosts.

Nadeau sparks Matador title

RICHMOND — Brett Nadeau recorded three first-round pins in leading Granada High School to the championship at the 6th annual Oiler Wrestling Invitational Tournament at Richmond High here last night.

Nadeau, voted the Most Valuable Wrestler among the tourney lightweights, wrestled in the 127-pound division. Wayne Stoner, competing in the 122-pound class, also pinned all three of his opponents, two of them in the first round.

"They both deserve the MVP," Granada coach Steve Page said of his two wrestlers. "I just wish our 127-pounder (Nadeau) could have wrestled Richmond's 127-pounder." Eddie Fernandez, the Richmond 127-pounder, impressed Page with three pins.

Granada's Mike Laflin (135) won two decisions and pinned another, while Monte Young (147), Scott Rychnovsky (156), Bill Freeman (167) and Steve Stoddard (HVV) all went undefeated on the day. Rychnovsky had two pins, while all others had one.

Jeff Beringer (105), Ward DIXON (95), Jim Weigel (114), Raul Lopez (140), Brent Dixon (177) and Dave Daley (193) all went home with two wins under their belts, as every Granada wrestler won at least twice.

Granada, which has had a piece of the title on this tournament since it started in 1972, rummaged through Pinole Valley by a score of 68-3, before defeating Benicia 53-11 and Novato 50-9 for the title.

Falcon kickers stun Granada

By Brian Martin

Foothill High minimized their thinking and maximized their concentration in taking a surprise 3-1 win over Granada Friday to throw the East Bay Athletic League soccer standings into a frenzy.

The Matadors dropped into a second place tie with the Falcons at 5-2, while Livermore grabbed the top spot with a 5-1 mark after their victory over Monte Vista.

"We basically played them man-for-man, and we were attacking them the whole game," Foothill coach Keith Sweet said after the upset win. "We haven't changed our game plan for any game this season, and that includes this one. We didn't even mention Granada during practice this week. It was a taboo thing."

The Falcons, who ironically lost to Granada in their first-ever soccer game, 13-1, made up for that slashing by spotting the Mats a goal early and roaring back for the win.

"They just didn't play up to their capabilities," remarked a dejected Granada coach Bill Coupe. "I think the big difference in the game is we just stood around and watched."

The Matadors, who scored just five minutes into the contest on a textbook goal by Shannon Estill off a lead pass from Kevin Burke at ten yards, could not mount a sustained drive against the quick Falcon defenders all afternoon.

"We weren't intimidated like we were at Livermore," Sweet remarked. "And Paul Schaut, he's been starting for us but has been kind of unnoticeable. But he was out there, a ball of fire for the whole game."

AV stays unbeaten, tops 'Stangs

By Clay Kallam

DANVILLE — To put it simply: Amador is the best-coached team in the East Bay Athletic League — and perhaps in the entire East Bay.

And that's to take nothing away from Rich Jones of Monte Vista or any of the coaches in the area — it's just that Skip Mohatt's Dons play the toughest defense and hustle more than any other team around and sooner or later they simply wear you down.

Friday night in Danville the Dons outwaited the eager Monte Vista Mustangs — considered the prime challenger to Amador's reign as EBAL champ — and earned a 64-59 win.

The Mustangs were fighting all the way and cut the margin to three points with only 11 seconds left after trailing by 15 with 2:30 to play but the game actually wasn't as close as the score indicated.

Monte Vista started strong, due in part to the unexplained absence of two Amador players, one of whom was Chris Kearns, the fine junior forward. The genial Mohatt, who rates a high school basketball game somewhere above open heart surgery in importance, answered queries to concerning the two missing Dons with a preemptory wave of the arm and a growl: "Get out of here!"

So much for investigative reporting. But without Kearns in by guard Mike Hansen and junior forward Rick Howard, who led all scorers with 23 points. Kearns arrived at approximately 8:40, ten minutes after the game began, and the Dons' best outside shooter responded with 18 points in an abbreviated evening of basketball. By halftime, the Dons had eked out a 28-27 lead, thanks to a brilliant exhibition of delay basketball at the end of the half.

Cowboy booters first

By Marty James

DANVILLE — Dennis Rashe has to like his chances against Granada High School Tuesday.

"We're going to blow up against Granada," offered Rashe after Livermore High edged Monte Vista, 2-1 in an East Bay Athletic League soccer match here Friday afternoon.

The win also improved the Cowboys' record to 5-1-1 and put them in first place. And Rashe was particularly pleased.

"The kids played good considering they haven't played in four weeks," Rashe said. "I was pleased with the way things went."

The successful Poke mentor was especially happy when Mike Miller slapped a yard shot across goal with little time remaining to give Livermore the crucial victory.

Said Dennis, "I was proud of the way the guys came back."

With the score tied at 1-1 and eight minutes to go, Charlie Bockover centered a pass to Miller who kicked the deciding goal to the right of goal tender Jeff Boles.

Which was the half the Cowboy's shot and shot were only turned away by a hungry Mustang force led by Skip Johnson, Don Andres and Dean Kinnee.

Livermore finally did tally with a few seconds left in the first half.

The Pokes, who controlled much of the first-half scoring, set up for an indirect penalty kick. Cary Dean, the kicker, tapped it off to Billy Hunt, and Hunt sent an awesome 20-yard cross field shot that landed in the upper corner of the left portion of the nets.

The Cowboys' Steve Allen, in his understandable rush to feed the ball to teammate goalie Rick Woods, gave MV its only goal.

Allen's kick neatly rolled by the awe-struck Woods and into goal. The score traveled 10 yards.

Falcons win in overtime

Foothill High School is making a habit of playing tough, hard-fought basketball games.

Wednesday night the Falcons lost a heartbreaking 57-55 decision to tough Granada. Friday night Foothill came back to take a dramatic 65-61 overtime victory over Dublin on the losers' court.

With the score 60-59 Foothill with less than a minute left in the overtime Robert MacDonald of Foothill sank a jump shot to give the Falcons a 62-59 lead. Seconds later Dane Seropian, who a minute earlier had sunk a bucket to keep the Gaels in breathing distance, sank a free throw to make the score 62-60. However, Lane Joseph of Foothill came back with two free throws to ice the contest for the Falcons.

The real action came in the waning minutes of the fourth quarter, however. Foothill, with a 56-54 lead and just seconds left on the clock threw the ball away and Dublin had the ball with six seconds left. A scuffle broke out between center Steve Sperber of Foothill and several Dublin players. As a result a series of technical fouls and personals were called against each team.

With just two seconds left

Phil Moore of Foothill sank a free throw to make it 57-54 but Bruce Cummings, after missing the first shot, came back to can the next three charity shots for Dublin and the game went into overtime.

Sperber was the dominant player in the game, canning 22 points to lead all scorers. Jim Bouliware paced Dublin with 20.

Foothill led most of the way, taking a 32-29 half-time lead and stretching it to 51-41 with 6:34 remaining on a Pat Geck free throw. However, from then on the Gaels started to press, and gradually closed the gap.

Foothill is now 1-1 in EBAL play and Dublin is 0-2.

In freshman action Dublin breezed 46-36. The Gael junior varsity also won, 51-47. Rene Ruiz canned 11 points for Dublin and Mitch Pereira 15 for the Falcons.

SR pleases Russ

Russ Critchfield, the former All-American from the University of California, said he aged 10 years.

Although the first-year coach at San Ramon High didn't look a day older than 29, the most he gained was a pulsating 80-71 overtime win over hosting California Friday night in San Ramon.

The win moved the Wolves into first place at 2-0. And as Critchfield put it, "It gives us some momentum."

And San Ramon had plenty of momentum in the three minute overtime.

With the score tied at 68-68 after regulation play, the Wolves streaked for eight unanswered points, highlighted by two Grizzly turnovers. The eight point advantage sealed it.

Individually, California's Larry Walters, who has averaged over 20 points per game, led all scorers with 28 points, 19 of which came in the climatic second half.

Don offense rolls

Displaying the offensive form that won the East Bay Athletic League championship last season Amador Valley High School's soccer team took a 3-2 victory over host California Friday aftfive-yarder directly in front of the goal off an assist from Joe Correia. That score occurred with just five minutes elapsed in the game.

Eight minutes later Ossen and Correia reversed roles. Joe broke in front of the Grizzly goal took a feed from Ossen and pushed the ball in past California's ace goalie Mike Daugherty.
